Perfect Place for Wildlife Studies

Mike King loves where he lives and cannot seem to get enough of it. What an apt place, then, to become a wildlife biologist. And what a perfect spot to teach the science of wildlife and for students to study it.

Stellar Writing Advice

Josi Russell's year-long sabbatical took her beyond the planet Minea and into the midst of a highly advanced, hostile alien race — publishers and critics.