If You Remember '60s Music | Eastern

02/23/2018

If you remember and/or a fan of '60s music, “A Tribute to the Beatles, Remembering the Fab Four,” is a concert not to be missed. It features a Beatles tribute band set for Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in Utah State University Eastern’s Geary Events Center.

The Fab Four plays tribute to the greatest and most successful band of all time by playing everything live and paying respect to musical and visual details. Concert goers call the concert a top-notch audio-visual work of art and a spectacular world-class production.

This Beatles tribute band features convincing Liverpudlian accents, plus Beatles wit including pointed boots and totally fab gear. It’s like seeing and hearing the Beatles in concert for the first time.

The two-hour show features authentic costumes, instruments and backline.

The four lads joined in 1993 and performed more than 1,100 shows across the United States and abroad. Over the years the group shared the stage with the Beach Boys, Jay Leno, Chicago, Three Dog Night, Carrie Underwood, America, Glen Campbell, the Temptations, The Commodores, The Mandrell Sisters, Badfinger and others. Among many other highlights are their performance at the Nokia Sugarbowl in New Orleans for a national TV audience, being the first act to ever perform at the 20,000-seat USANA amphitheater in Salt Lake City, Utah, and 21 performances at the Shanghai Music Festival in China. Beatlemania is truly alive and well on mainland China. Tickets are $5 for students with ID, $7 for children 5-12 and adults $10. Dinner and a show per person is $13. Tickets are available at USU Eastern’s dining room in the Jennifer Leavitt Student Center or at www.usueastern.edu/beatles.
